

OLIVER MAY.

JANUARY 3, 1832.

Mr. HUBBARD, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the resolution to inquire into the expediency of placing the name of Oliver May on the pension roll, report:

That the petitioner enlisted on the first day of January, 1776, for the term of one year, in Captain Wilkinson's company, in Colonel Jas. Reed's regiment, on the continental establishment; and that he continued to serve until the expiration of the said term of one year: and that he again enlisted, for three years, in Captain Oliver's company, in Colonel Grayton's regiment, and served out said term of enlistment. That he is now 74 years of age; and that he has now property only to the amount of $219. These facts are set forth in the statement of the petitioner, which is sworn to. The petitioner also states, that he has heretofore been prevented from applying for a pension on account of his property. His service for one year in Colonel Reed's regiment, is fully proved by the deposition of Selah Belding.

Reuben Dickinson also states, under oath, that he served over nine months in Wilkinson's company, during which time the petitioner was a soldier in same company.

It appears, from the evidence of the appraiser, that the property, of which the petitioner is the owner, amounts to $219 00, and no more.

From the facts, as proved in this case, the committee are of opinion that the petitioner did serve more than nine months in the war of the revolution, and that he now is in indigent circumstances. They therefore report a bill granting him a pension.
